How we manage Health and Safety at the Mauritian Wildlife Foundation

The Mauritian Wildlife Foundation is responsible for managing health and safety risks that may arise from its activities, and for taking practical steps to protect staff and others from harm.

As well as controlling risk, the organisation must put in place arrangements or effective planning, organisation, control, monitoring, and review of the preventive and protective measures that keep staff, volunteers, and visitors safe. We do this by following the Plan, Do, Check, Act approach.

Through the adoption of this approach, we aim to continually improve our health and safety performance to reduce workplace accident, injury and ill health and promote a safe environment for all staff and visitors.
